Over the course of a 20-year career competing in North America's premier open-wheel series, Will Power has undoubtedly secured a spot as one of the greatest drivers in the rich history of INDYCAR racing. A two-time NTT INDYCAR SERIES champion in 2014 and 2022 and the winner of the 2018 Indianapolis 500, Power has shown no signs of slowing down as he competes in his 17th season for Team Penske in 2025, driving the No. 12 Verizon Business Chevrolet.

The Australian racer produced three victories in 2024 to advance to fourth place on INDYCAR's all-time wins list with 44. When it comes to qualifying, however, Power stands alone atop the INDYCAR mountain. With a remarkable total of 70 NTT P1 Pole Awards to his credit entering the 2025 season, Power has distinguished himself as the greatest qualifier in series history and he is poised to add to his record total this season.

Power and his wife, Elizabeth, reside in Charlotte, North Carolina with their young son Beau. Power is an avid fitness enthusiast and amateur drummer. The native of Toowoomba, Australia became a proud American citizen after going through the naturalization process in January of 2019 while maintaining his Australian birth citizenship.
