JOEY LOGANO

Three-time NASCAR Cup Series (NCS) Champion Joey Logano enters his 17th series season and his 13th year with Team Penske in 2025. As he returns behind the wheel of the No. 22 Team Penske Ford Mustang, Logano is the only active driver with three Cup Series championships on his resume and he has his sights set on winning back-to-back titles – and four-straight for Team Penske – in 2025.

Logano enters the 2025 campaign with 36 career NCS victories, which ranks 26th on the series' all-time wins list. Logano's 2024 Cup Series title placed him among the sport's greats, becoming one of 10 drivers all-time with three or more championships and one of four drivers to win three titles before the age of 35, joining Richard Petty, Jeff Gordon, and Jimmie Johnson.

Logano's four wins over the course of the 2024 campaign – three of which came during the 10-race Cup Series Playoffs – was the second-most of all drivers while also leading 199-of-200 laps to secure a million-dollar payday in the All-Star Race at North Wilkesboro. Logano's win at Nashville following a series-record five overtimes extended his streak of consecutive seasons with a Cup Series win to 13 while also clinching his 11th playoffs appearance.

Logano won the opening race of the Round of 16 at Atlanta before clinching his series-leading sixth-career Championship 4 appearance with a dramatic win at Las Vegas in the Round of 8, which also marked crew chief Paul Wolfe's 41st career Cup Series victory, making him the winningest active crew chief. Logano went on to claim his third Cup Series title three weeks later in Phoenix, leading 107 laps while holding off teammate Ryan Blaney during the final run.

Away from the racetrack, Logano and his wife Brittany were honored with the 2018 Comcast Community Champion of the Year award for their charitable efforts with the Joey Logano Foundation. Entering the 2025 season, the Foundation has raised over $6 million for organizations that provide second chances to kids and young adults in crisis.

Logano and Brittany have two young sons, Hudson and Jameson, and a daughter, Emilia.
